authorizing is based on the principle that community stakeholder voice, and response to community need, is an integral component of charter school decision making at all levels. During the renewal visit, the CSO will look for evidence of community voice across the school from governance to the educational program, as well as a commitment to the principles of diversity, equity, and inclusion, in the school's policies and practices.

A one-day remote renewal site visit was conducted at Syracuse Academy of Science and Citizenship Charter School on October 28, 2021. The NYSED CSO team conducted interviews with the board of trustees, school leadership team, teachers, parents, and students. In cooperation with school leadership, the CSO administered anonymous online surveys to and parents.

The team conducted six remote classroom observations and had access to SANYS instructional video from other schools in the network in K - Grade 6.0 1 T c E . 3 (o) B o d y > > B D C

Educational Success	Benchmark 1: Student P

- Syracuse Academy of Science and Citizenship Charter School (SASCCS) is in year 5 of operation and serves students in K - Grade 6. During its current charter term, the school is rated in the following manner: meeting eight benchmarks and approaching two benchmarks. A summary of those ratings is provided below.

- Summary of Areas of Growth and Strengths: Instructional delivery fosters engagement with students. SASCCS uses data analysis to inform instruction, in particular through the network-created TED Solutions platform. The school has systems to monitor the progress of individual students. Classroom environments are conducive to learning and generally free from disruption. SASCCS has programs in place to support the social-emotional needs of students. The board demonstrates active oversight of the school's academic program. The school has an effective school leadership team. SASCCS successfully retains key personnel with low teacher turnover. The school implements its key design elements.

- Summary of Areas in Need of Improvement: Given the challenges of the past two years, the school will continue to hone its K- Grade 8 curriculum, instruction, assessments and interventions designed to address academic deficiencies including the development of pacing guides across all grade levels for ELA and math; data and Professional Learning Community (PLC) meetings; additional literacy and math intervention coordinators; and small intervention or enrichment groups. The school recognizes the need to expand and strengthen its Response to Intervention (RtI) program with a focus on students' deficiencies in math and the need to hire two additional ENL teachers to support English language acquisition, reading and comprehension of its English language learners (ELLs). The school currently has one English as a New Language (ENL) teacher to serve the needs of 55 designated ELLs.

Benchmark 1: Student Performance
The school has met or exceeded achievement indicators for academic trends toward proficiency, proficiency, and high school graduation. At all grade levels and all assessments, scoring proficiently means achieving a performance level of 3 or higher (high school Regents and Common Core Regents exam score of 65 or higher).

Finding: Approaches

Note: State assessments were not administered in the 2019-2020 school year and were administered under the COVID-19 constraints during the 2020-2021 school year. As such, NYSED is limited to what results it can include from those two years in the analysis of this benchmark. In the Spring of 2021 NYSED instituted a Local Assessment Plan. The Local Assessment Plan is designed to help charter schools demonstrate academic progress and growth, the NYSED CSO is implementing a local assessment plan to collect authorizer-approved local/interim assessment data from Board of Regents-authorized schools. More details regarding this initiative can be found in the NYSED Local Assessment Plan memo. Local assessment data will be shared starting in the 2021-2022 school year.

Summative Evidence for Benchmark 1:

Over this charter term, the trajectory for this benchmark has been consistent as an Approaches. It currently is -rrD1D1D1D1rr

Benchmark 2: Teaching and Learning
School leaders have systems in place designed to cultivate shared accountability and high expectations

Academic Program for Students with Disabilities (SWDs) and English language learners

- Diverse Learners:
  - The renewal application states that the school has two ELL teachers, four Special Education teachers, three math specialists, five literacy specialists, and four AIS specialists presently on staff. Additionally, literacy and math coordinators ensure student progress is regularly monitored, and intervention plans are created for small groups of students using data collected on a weekly basis and targeting skill-based gap area.
- SWDs:
  - SASCCS serves its SWDs through an inclusive co-teaching model in K - Grade 4 and provides multiple intervention support teachers for K - Grade 6.
  - Teachers also provide push-in and pull-out services to support students' progress towards their IEP goals.
- ELLs:
  - At the time of the visit, SASCCS had only one of its planned two ELL teachers on staff. The ELL teacher provides push-in and pull-out services to ELL students.

Summative Evidence for Benchmark 2

Over this charter term, the trajectory for this benchmark the school has been consistent as a Meets.

1. Element: Cl m :

   - Indicator a: The school has a documented curriculum that is aligned to the NYSLS. In focus groups, school leaders and teachers reported that the school relies on pacing guides in ELA and math that instructional leaders ensure are aligned with requisite standards. - Indicator b: The school uses data analysis to inform instruction. In focus groups, school leaders and teachers reported that the school utilizes a network-created platform, TED Solutions, to identify student learning trends in assessment results. School leaders and teachers also reported that staff members regularly review assessment results to determine which students require interventions, and which students require enrichment, during intervention blocks. In the 2021 CSO Teacher Survey, 100 percent of teachers who responded agreed that the school uses qualitative and quantitative data to inform instruction and improve student outcomes. At the time of the renewal site visit, the school had transitioned to Datapooler software to compile the school's qualitative and quantitative data to inform classroom groupings, curricular revisions and supplementation, interventions, staffing assignments, teacher supports, and professional development topics.
- Indicator c: The school and network utilize data analysis to adjust the school program. In focus groups, school leaders and teachers reported that, based on remote learning assessment results indicating significant learning loss, the school hired numerous additional intervention teachers for the 2021-2022 school year. The analysis of recent assessment results also convinced the school to purchase additional library books and math manipulatives. In the 2021 CSO Teacher Survey, 89 percent of teachers who responded agreed that the school uses qualitative and quantitative data to evaluate the quality and effectiveness of the academic program and 95 percent of teachers who responded agreed that the school modifies its academic program after using data meashy a.3 (c2)-3.4 0 Td - for students created gaps in learning. At the same time, the school continued to grow as planned which resulted in increased numbers of students who entered the school with significant learning gaps. In an effort to increase student academic achievement and close the learning gap. SANY developed and implemented various network-wide projects in the last two years ito strengthen the K- Grade 8 curriculum, instruction and assessments. These projects included the development of robust pacing guides across all grade levels for ELA and math; data and Professional Learning Community (PLC) meetings; additional Literacy and Math Intervention Coordinators; and small intervention or enrichment groups to individualize instruction and serve specific student needs.

4. Element: [illegible] :

x Indicator a:The school provides supports to meet the academic needs for most of its students. In focus groups, school leaders and teachers reported the school employs interventionist teachers, special education teachers, and literacy and math coordinators to provide support to students struggling in ELA and math. During the renewal site visit, staff described the school's clear approach to behavioral management, including a clearly defined code of conduct and a written discipline children's academic progress in their home language. During the renewal site visit, staff described a variety of ways SASCCS "ensured there is no lapse in communication" with students' families.

- Indicator b: Teachers communicate with parents to discuss students' strengths and needs. In a focus group, parents reported that teachers use Class Dojo, a web-based application, and ad hoc meetings with parents at school dismissal to communicate children's academic and behavioral progress. Parents reported believing parents are fully aware of their children's needs. In the CSO teacher survey, 100 percent of teachers who responded agreed that parents receive regular and timely information on their child's academic progress in their home language. During the renewal site visit, staff described using regular phone calls, emails, texts, and online grade book platforms to keep parents informed about their students' progress, strengths, and needs.
- Indicator c: The school somewhat assesses family satisfaction. In a focus group, parents reported that the school sends surveys to parents. There is no parent organization through which parents can communicate with school leadership. In the 2021 CSO Teacher Survey, 100 percent of teachers agreed that the school seeks feedback from parents through surveys, meetings, or some other way. In the 2021 CSO Parents/Guardians Survey, 86 percent of parents who responded agreed that the school seeks feedback from parents through surveys, meetings, or some other way. School leaders reported that the school had approximately 1,600 discipline referrals in the school's first year but, since the school began deploying the Positivity Project in the school's second year, discipline referrals have steadily reduced so that in the school's fifth year there are few student suspensions. In the 2021 CSO Teacher Survey, 78 percent of teachers who responded agreed that school leaders collect and use data to track the social- emotional needs of all students, including students in subgroups.
